EXERCISES AT HARVARD

Celebration of the Commencement at Cambridge.

The Two Hundred and Sixty-fourth Graduation Programme of the University-An Honor for the German Ambassador-The Prize Winners

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 26.-Harvard. University celebrated its 264th commencement today. The exercises took place in Saunders' Theatre at 10 o'clock, shortly before which time the graduating classe and officials assembled in the college vard. and marched to the fleatre, where a large audience of friends, relatives, and invited meeting was called to order by the sheriff of Middlesex and prayer was offered.

Lawrence Hayward, of the graduating class, made the customary Latin salutatory. He dwelt particularly on the recent growth and development of the country and said it augured well for its future. S. S. Drury gave the dissertation entitled "Biology in Modern Poetry." The oration was delivered by S. H. E. Freund, also of the class of 1901 ,and one of the few summa cum laude men. It was somewhat different from the more or less stereo-typed speech, usually made at commence-

H. C. Kahn, of the Law School, and was directed to "Judicial Precedent." Upon the recommendation of the deans of the various faculties, President Eliot then proceeded to award 989 regular degrees.

A. H. Rice and T. W. Doherty took prizes for essays in Latin, and R. M. Green and G. H. Montague were mentioned as writers of prize-winning essays in English. As a particular mark of honor, the name of Herr von Holleben, the German Ambassador, was mentioned on the title page and he was particularly named as one of those before whom the The commencement exercises were particularly memorable for the large number of degrees conferred and for the exceptionally large number of honor men in the academic department. There will be class reunions all day in various rooms in the college yard, '96, '95, '91, and '76 having a large number of men back in Cambridge for the day.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 26 .- Yale rounded out her second century of colleglate life today when her 200th commence-ment was held. Properly speaking, the bi-centennial exercises of the founding of the college should have taken place today. As a matter of fact, the corporation did propose holding them at this time, but found that they had delayed too long before beginning their preparations for the event and were therefore obliged to postpone the date of the formal celebration until next October. Today's exercises were held, as usual, in Battell Chapel, which was crowded during the progress of the extended programme. The award of prizes announced was as

A GREAT RAILROAD PLAN. To Connect Alexandria, in Egypt,

With Shanghai.

Richard Guenther, the United States Consul General at Frankfort, Germany, reports to the State Department that the German press states that an English engineer has worked out a plan to connect Alexandria in Egypt directly with Shanghal. The railroad, which will be about 6,400 miles long, will have three divisions. The middle one of 2,155 mile is already in existence; it is in the railroad net of India.

From Alexandria, the road will run east-southeast over the Isthmus of Sinai to Akaba, the north end of the Bay of Akaba; from there, almost due east to Kurveit and Bassorah, thence through southern Persia to the frontier of Baluchistan, and across this State, which is under the English protectorate, to connect with the India railroad net. From Shanghai to Chungking, the road will run along the Yangtze-kiang, touching all important trade centres, such as Nankin, Hankau, etc. Then it will run by way of Shantung, Yunnan, and Talifu to Kunlog, the most eastern terminus of dalay and Calcutta. Karache, at the mouth of the Indus, will become one of the principal stations.

The object of the association, as stated in the preamble to its constitution, is to unite in common brotherhood all restail merchants who doed in freely acted.

The suit arose out of the following state

On February, 1899, Mrs. Marcellina Jaroe, an elderly woman, died, leaving a will dated February 24, 1892, and two codicils thereto, one dated October 29, 1892, and the other dated February 15, 1898, whereby she devised the bulk of her estate, amounting in the aggregate to $12,-000 or $15,000, to certain persons othe than her relatives, with only small legacies of a few hundred dollars to them. When the will and codicils were offered for probate, Thomas S. Queen and the remaining heirs at law and next of kin. six or seven in number, objected to its being probated on the ground that Mrs. Jarbo e, being extremely old and an invalid, was incapable of making a legal will or contract. They thereupon, April 24, 1899, employed Messrs. Webb & Hallam to represent them in the contest, entering into a written contract for their services. The ordinary caveats were filed and the attorneys gathered what evidence they could get as to Mrs. Jarboe's mental

Finally, after three or four months that line, they came to the conclusion that compromise of the case would be most dvantageous to all concerned, and acordingly an agreement in writing was drawn up by the attorneys representing the parties interested, whereby the heirs would receive about twice as much mone as under the will if declared valid. All of them had signed, or agreed to sign, with one exception, and the agreement there-

While negotiations were pending Messrs.
Webb & Hallam were, in November, 1899, notified that their services would not be further required, and John H. Adriaans appeared as counsel for the heirs at the trial. The contest was lost, and an appeal taken to the Court of Appeals was dismissed by the Supreme Court of the United States, and the heirs took nothing except their respective small legacies. After this action on the part of the heirs Messrs. Webb & Hallam, feeling that they had been aggrieved and summarily dismissed without cause, entered suit on their contract which, under its terms, would have given them $550, or their share of the amount of money, etc., recovered under the will itself.
When the case was called for trial the heirs informed the court that they had engaged F. Snowden Hill to represent them in their suits. J. J. Darlington and W. M. Hallam appeared for the plaintiffs. While negotiations were pending Messrs.

The Author's Experience.

United States Consul Pike, of Port Louis, Mauritius, his written a charming book upon this gem of the ocean, the home of Paul and Virginia.

Colonel Pike, whose New York address is 45 Exchange Place, had a curious experience with coffee, and the beverage almost destroyed his eyesight. He says: "Speaking of coffee, my first warning against its use was insommia followed by depression, and despondency. The nervous system was in such a condition that I could not attend to business, and to my distress I discovered that my eyesight was becoming more and more imperfect every day. From my knowledge of the symptoms of coffee poisoning, I concluded to leave off the cuffee and take up Postum Food Coffee in its place.

The results were astonishing. Gradu Justice Anderson, of the Supreme Court of the District, left the city last night for Mexico. He makes the trip for business and pleasure.

Justice Anderson will remain in Mexico about three weeks, returning to Washington before sailing for Europe, on July 12 next.

"The results were assonishing. Gradually my eyesight recovered, and the nervous condition and depressed feeling disappeared. I have now been using Postum in piace of coffee for several years and am in perfect health. "My family of six persons discarded coffee some time ago and use Postum. I would not be without it. It is a most valuable addition to the breakfast table and should be in every household." ODD FELLOWS TO MEET.

FIVE WOMEN, IN A ROW. saiah Johnson, Colored, Causes

Trouble in South Washington. Isaiah Johnson, colored, swelled with pride in the Police Court today when it was brought out that five colored women all apparently very much impressed with his looks, had gotten into a fight over him in South Washington last night. Josephine Smith was talking to Johnson when Blanche White, Nellie Tibbs, Lulu when Blanche White, Nellie Tibbs, Lulu Barns, and Mary Harrity came along. Blanche got angry and, it is said, attacked Josephine Smith, and hit her. Blanche's three companions also engaged in the melee, but did not hurt Josephine. Johnson, it was said, ran to escape the wrath of Blanche White. He testified that he did not know what happened after he left, but the evidence was sufficient to show that Blanche started the row and she was sent to the workhouse for fifteen days in default of a fine of $5, while the other women were discharged.

TO REVISE JERSEY STATUTES.

The Governor Appoints Justices Dixon and Fort and C. H. Cerbin. TRENTON, N. J., June 26 .- Justices the Supreme Court, and Charles H. Corthe Supreme Court, and Charles H. Corbin, of Jersey City, have been appointed by Governor Voorhees to revise the statutes of New Jersey Charlet. The commission was provided for by an act of the last Legislature, and the compensation of the members is to be fixed by the Governor. The last general revision was made in 1874 by the late Chief Justice Mercer Beasley, the present Chief Justice, David A. Depue, and Cortlandt Parker, of Newark. During the last few years several commissions created under
